

Aviation Safety Regulation Review Submission

I have been a glider pilot in Australia for approximately 30 years. In my view, the self-administration of gliding by the Gliding Federation of Australia (GFA) is working well to provide safe outcomes. I submit that any changes to this self-administrative regime should only take place after consultation with, and with the agreement of, the GFA. The GFA is run by people who have expertise with respect to gliding, and I feel that they are in the best position to administer gliding.

Yours sincerely

Michael Karas
