Short comment

As a youth, I firmly request that safeguards and restrictions be put in place against age-inappropriate material, especially pornography. I urge the government to use whatever means necessary to prevent children from stumbling accidentally or purposefully across such content. The negative mental health effects on children, exacerbated by the addictive nature of such material, is enough reason for the total prevention of child exposure to such content. Just from hearing and seeing the stories around me, as well as viewing the published evidence, the exposure of pornography to children causes irreparable harm. I plea the government to act on this, it is our societal responsibility to protect the most vulnerable from content that will harm them.
