Privacy Setting: I agree for my response to be published with my name and position.

What organisation do you represent? (required)	Chargefox
What is your name? (required)	John Sullivan
What is your position at the organisation? (required)	CEO
Please rank the proposed options in order of preference. (optional)	Option A - 3rd, Option B - 1st, Option C - 2nd
Briefly, what are your reasons for your choice? (optional, 3000 character limit)	The motor industry has in other regions needed to meet Vehicle Efficiency Standards, and should not require time to adjust its current Australian practices, as such I feel the Motor industry in Australia should be able to adapt, with learnings, quickly. For Australian consumers the slower we force adoption to the new standards the more time we will give customers the opportunity to buy less efficient vehicles and develop work arounds so that they don not have to comply. This will slow any environmental and health gains.
Do you support the Government's preferred option (Option B)? (optional)	Yes
Do you have any feedback on the analysis approach and key assumptions used? (optional, 3000 character limit)	My only feedback is that the government is looking to consult with Australian Businesses and its Citizens to gain some form of acceptance or agreement on this standard. Dont bother, it will be impossible to achieve that. All other countries in the world with developed economies have adopted aggressive targets. Just get on with it, You will never get all Car Manufacturers to agree, some will see it as an opportunity to gain advantage and others will try to sell a story that doomsday is upon us. Some drivers will go Great and others will say that they cant live without their V8 monster trucks. Accept that there are no moderates left in society, assume your responsibility to govern this country and just get on with it.
Briefly, describe how the NVES might impact your organisation (optional, 3000 character limit)	It will make vehicles better for this country. Less pollution, less sick days for my team, a better place for my staffs family.
