

All you need to do is tell us the appropriate age range there is no reason an adult can't play a game like "We happy few" a game that was effectively banned because it had drug use.

Do you think that a adult will play a game and think "hey I should go do drugs and kill people" if you do believe this you have no place in the gaming industry for the last 20+ years we have seen dozens of study's showing no correlation between violence and videogames.

Stop being moral authoritarians and if you cant do this step down.
