
Josephine Croft

I am an actor and emerging producer and know that despite the size of the industry over here, we have a wealth of talent. The lack of work means that either creatives are forced overseas or onto a different career path. I think incentives are a must, as we need to encourage more investment in Australian projects which will see the industry grow (and I do believe it will bloom). Australians love to watch good quality home grown shows, making more of these shows can only have a positive impact both financially and culturally.

I wish for my submission to be anonymous: No

I wish for my submission to be private: No

This submission has been lodged via the Media, Entertainment & Arts Alliance.