

Hello there,

My name is Martyn Glastonbury. I'm a genuine car enthusiast.

Firstly I'd like to say that I am unsure how to formally address this issue so I will try to be blunt and hopefully keep it short.

- I'd like to be able to import slightly newer LHD cars and not have to convert them to RHD. This quite frankly ruins them. They get cut up and they're never the same. It is ridiculous to me that we are able to import old cars and keep them LHD but not newer ones? I have driven many LHD cars on Australian roads without any issue. The age of the vehicle should not be a factor on whether it should be allowed on the road.

I'd also like the rules regarding modified vehicles to be relaxed. Sure- cars should be inspected for safety but usually these regulations are just tools for police, used to villify car enthusiasts and hand out pointless yellow stickers. However, i doubt this will change. I can dream though.
